

Do you want to guide the National Science Foundation and your local academic and non-academic institutions towards more creative and effective research and training partnerships?

Please attend this NSF-funded workshop series: “Building Bridges to Use-Inspired Research and Science-Informed Practices”

Who: Anyone in any organization at any career stage who is interested in building stronger connections among academic, private, and government partners to translate basic science research into solutions that benefit society.

When:

- Pre-Workshop MicroLab Series: April 14, 2023 and May 12, 2023 - 12:00p to 2:00p MDT
- In-Person Workshop: June TBD (Logistics shared at our website and with Microlab participants in early March; Application opens 04/14/23)

How: Register for the Microlabs now using this QR code:

Learn more and register here: <https://apply.knowinnovation.com/inspired-science/>

